Increased HIV Education Needed for Colombian Youths

April 18, 2012

The Latin America director of UNAIDS has suggested the Colombian government increase HIV education among youths, according to Colombia Reports. A United Nations study on HIV prevalence in Colombia found that about 152,000 people have HIV and that prevalence of the virus has increased among Colombians ages 15 to 24.

To read the Colombia Reports article, click here.

© 2026 Smart + Strong All Rights Reserved.
http://beta.docker.realhealthmag.com/article/Columbia-Youth-HIV-22260-3586