

Good Fast Food?

It's true that most fast-food menus are chock-full of so-bad-but-so-yummy items. We checked out the nutritional info at three major chains. If you must get your fast food on, we suppose these pickings won't kill you.

July 1, 2005 By Staff

---

McDonald's: Regular Hamburger

Skip the burgers with all the bells and whistles (cheese, bacon, supersize), and go for the regular hamburger. Though its carb count is still a little high (33 grams), it's got only 9 grams of fat while delivering 13 grams of protein.

Taco Bell: Ranchero Chicken Soft Taco

Skip the Fiesta Taco Salad, which sounds good, but has nearly 50 grams of fat. A "fresco style" Ranchero Chicken Soft Taco weighs in at a lean 4 grams of fat and 170 calories.

Kentucky Fried Chicken: Breast

At KFC, the entire menu is finger-lickin' trouble. Order individual white-meat pieces and lose the skin—you'll get rid of about 80 percent of the fat (leaving about 3 grams) and still get a hefty serving of protein.

---

© 2026 Smart + Strong All Rights Reserved.

<http://beta.docker.realhealthmag.com/article/Good-Fast-Food-1960-9113>