Autistic Girl Wows With Version of Leonard Cohen's 'Hallelujah'

December 30, 2016

A 10-year-old girl from Northern Ireland has wowed people around the world after a video of her singing in her school choir went viral.

Kaylee Rodgers, from Donaghadee, County Down, has autism and attention deficit hyperactivity disorder (ADHD), but singing has helped her build up her confidence.

The video of the choirs's version of Leonard Cohen's "Hallelujah" — recorded at the school's Christmas show — has gained more than 3,000,000 views.

Click here to read more about autism.

© 2026 Smart + Strong All Rights Reserved.

http://beta.docker.realhealthmag.com/article/autistic-girl-wows-version-leonard-cohens-hallelujah