

Catholic Archbishop Seeks HIV/AIDS Awareness in Philippines

August 31, 2012

Roman Catholic Archbishop Luis Antonio Tagle of Manila has urged increased HIV/AIDS awareness in the Philippines, the Union of Catholic Asian News reports. To that end, the Archdiocese of Manila has scheduled two workshops on the virus. One workshop will be for priests, and another will be for seminarians and laypeople. Nine new HIV cases are reported daily in the country, and more than half are in the Manila area.
