Green Mile Star Michael Clarke Duncan Dies

September 5, 2012

Actor Michael Clarke Duncan, 54, died at Cedars-Sinai Medical Center in Los Angeles, Monday, September 3, where he was being treated for a heart attack, said his fiancée, reality TV personality Rev. Omarosa Manigault, in a statement released by publicist Joy Fehily.

Duncan “suffered a myocardial infarction on July 13 and never fully recovered,” the statement said. “Manigault is grateful for all of your prayers and asks for privacy at this time. Celebrations of his life, both private and public, will be announced at a later date.”

The prolific, 6-foot-4-inch character actor whose career includes dozens of films like his Oscar-nominated performance as a death row inmate in The Green Mile and such other box office hits as Armageddon, Planet of the Apes and Kung Fu Panda.”
